No member of the of the bench in Cook County. Mr. Tinsman served in the city council for one year from the Thirty-second ward and during that time proved his worth as a public official. He was one of the best men ever in the city council. Mr. Tinsman is a man of force and ability. He would make an upright, conscientious and fearless judge.

It was Gotch's ambition to defeat Burns decisively, nor did he spare the feelings of the veteran. He rushed at Burns at the call of time, and by "bulling" it soon had his opponent down on his knees. Gotch tried to get a foot lock, and Burns had difficulty in escaping. Gotch then tried for a headlock, but Burns knew how to render the grip useless. Many supporters of the Farmer were at the ring side, and they applauded loudly when Burns broke Gotch's waist hold, darted out, and put Gotch to the mat. Gotch had been coached by Burns never to let a wrestler keep him on the mat, if possible, and the two wrestlers fought to the edge of the canvas and then rolled off on the

The Humboldt boy had applied himself faithfully since his match with Burns three years mitched to a crotch and wrist lock, to the mat in 22:30.

In the second bout Burns took the aggressive from the call of time. Gotch, however, managed to put Burns to the mat and held him there for ten minutes. Burns tried desperately to rise. Burns finally broke away, but Gotch threw him heavily on his head. The veteran and his pupil mixed it savagely. Burns secured a headlock which Gotch broke with difficulty. Burns followed up his advantage, and fastened on a double bar lock with which he pinned Gotch to the mat for the second fall, also in 22:30.

Gotch rushed in to finish his tutor in quick order in the third bout, but Burns by a shift and a trip threw Gotch nearly off the mat. Gotch rushed in desperately and put Burns to the mat. He tried for a toe hold, but Burns finally broke the grip. Gotch secured a half-nelson, but Burns countered with an arm lock, and put Gotch on his shoulder. Gotch secured a toe lock, and had Burns near a fall, when the veteran, with a supreme effort, broke the grip and came to the top in a mixup. Gotch secured a half-nelson after coming out of a bad grip and won the bout in 16:10.

Star Baseball Players Are of Al Shapes and Sizes

Small Man Is at Disadvantage In Many Sports but Not in National Game-Lajole, Wagner and Cobb Are Big Fellows.

Baseball players come in all shapes and sizes. The player on the average is between five and six feet in height and weighs from 140 to 200 pounds. He is fat, lean, stocky, angular-in fact, he may come in any old build. While a small man is at a disadvantage in many other sports, perhaps football most notably of all, this is particularly untrue of baseball, and it has proven often that the size of the player makes little, if any, difference in the national game. Lajoie, Wagner and Cobb, perhaps the three greatest players who ever donned a spiked shoe, happen to be big men, but this is the exception to the mighty good rule that size makes very little differ ence in baseball. If you happen to be prejudiced in favor of either long or short players take a glance over the four teams recruited from the Na-
